

A close-up photograph of a young child with long, light-colored hair, looking through a magnifying glass. The child's eyes are visible through the lens, and they have a slight smile. The background is dark and out of focus.

Curiosity

A superpower
for good growth

O X F O R D

Curiosity

A superpower for good growth

“I have no special talents.
I am only passionately curious.”

Einstein

As a child, we were innately curious, asking around 200 questions a day. Now that we're adults, we're too busy, running from task to task, answering as many questions as we can.

Perhaps we've forgotten how to be curious and explore the unfamiliar.

Yet curiosity is a superpower to stay ahead of the game and be ready for the fast-changing future. So how can we re-ignite our inner curiosity at work?

Our Promise

At Oxford, we're passionate about the importance of curiosity, challenging the status quo, embracing the unknown and listening actively. It's how we do our best work and we're keen to pass on the ability to spark your team's curiosity.

Our Curiosity Igniter will help your teams re-ignite their curiosity!

Our experience shows that in just a few months, people start to change, becoming more curious, implementing quick wins and driving personal and business impact.

O X F O R D

Curiosity Igniter!

O X F
O R D

Our Curiosity Igniter is centred around a 1-day team workshop in which we diagnose your team's curiosity profile, unpack the barriers and identify quick wins!

After 4 weeks we check in virtually to share experiences, evaluate what works and reinforce the curiosity behaviour

Exploratory Call

1h call to with core team

Explore key objectives

Curiosity Workshop

Full day F2F workshop

Introduction into Curiosity

Benefits & barriers

Quick wins and big bets

Brief on life experiment

Virtual Check In

2h check in after 4 weeks

Evaluate Quick Wins

Business impact

Explore the way forward

Personal experiences

Wrap up

1h call with the core team

Evaluation and impact

Quick Wins – Impact Deck

Curiosity resources

What you will achieve with Curiosity Igniter

Insight into your curiosity profile

Understand what is holding you back to be curious

Select areas where curiosity can drive more impact

A set of tested and evaluated quick wins

An energized and more curious team

Identify big bets for further implementation

What our clients told us

Curiosity is inspiring and liberating to myself and my team, it brought higher quality and sharper insight

My team told me that I became a better manager and coach!

It encourages me to look at problems from different angles and approaches

Curious?

We're a team of passionate senior consultants ready to partner with your team. We'd love to chat, contact us here.

O X F O R D

Certified

Corporation